

Imaging methods when suffering from injuries of thoracic and lumbar spine, the algorithms of examination, the role of the radiological assistant during their modification and implementation